July 16, 1997

CCPRO President, Bill Thompson, conducted a general business session at the IIPS Conference with approximately 50 CCPRO members in attendance.

The main order of business was to fill the position of President-elect which was vacated upon Todd Jamison's departure to accept a position in Virginia. LaWanda Goodwin was nominated and elected unanimously to fill the unexpired term. She will fulfill all duties of the president-elect and will become President at the February 1998 conference.

George Turner reported that he would e-mail to members the suggested Constitution revisions regarding membership fees. Action will be taken on the suggestions after the appropriate process is followed.

No further business was discussed and the meeting was adjourned.
